SUMMARY OF BILL

This bill would require the Franchise Tax Board (FTB) to provide voter registration information provided by the Secretary of State (SOS) to taxpayers by either:

- including an insert prepared by the Secretary of State containing voter registration information in the pamphlet of instructions that accompanies personal income tax returns; or
- providing space for the voter registration information in the pamphlet of instructions that accompanies personal income tax returns.

This bill also would require every state agency to continually make available voter registration cards in a conspicuous location in any office where the public regularly conducts business with the agency.

This bill also would make changes to various code sections not administered by the FTB.

SUMMARY OF AMENDMENT

The August 16, 1999, amendments resolved an implementation concern regarding space allocation in tax booklets for voter registration information that was addressed in the department's analysis of the bill as amended April 19, 1999. This amendment also changed the voter registration participation requirement for the University of California and the California State University systems. These changes do not affect the department.

Except for the above implementation concern, the department's analyses of the original bill as introduced December 7, 1998, and as amended April 5, 1999, and

April 19, 1999, still apply. The remaining implementation and technical concerns are provided below.

Implementation Consideration

By its definition of "voter registration information," the Elections Code provision in this bill would require the Secretary of State to give the department a notice to print on the envelope which transmits the income tax instruction booklet or an insert to be placed in the booklet. However, the Revenue and Taxation Code provision in this bill allows the department either to include an insert or provide space in the instructions for the personal income tax returns. The department currently prints voter registration information in the text of the instruction booklet. The contradiction between the two provisions raises concerns over whether the department can continue to print the information in the text of the instruction booklet. Amendment 2 has been provided to clarify that the department can provide voter registration information in the pamphlet of instructions.

Technical Consideration

As drafted, the bill could be interpreted to require the FTB to provide voter registration information to taxpayers by September of each year. Amendment 1 would clarify that the SOS shall provide the notice to the FTB no later than September of each year so that the FTB can include the notice in instruction booklets printed in October and November for distribution to taxpayers in January of the following year.
